WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1891.

SPECIAL NOTICES DANENHOWER'S 40TH GRAND REAL ESTATE FREE EXCURSION TO WEST ARLINGTON, MARYLAND. TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1891.

The WEST ARLINGTON (MD.) IMPROVEMENT

SALE of lots on TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1891.

This model suburban town has been named West Arlinston to distinguish it from the present suburb of Arlinston. from which it is separated by the Reisterstown pike and Garrison avenue. The railroad station is practically on the property, being on the opposite side of Garrison avenue, which forms the southern boundary of the new suburb. It hes just five miles from the Baltimore city hall. The southern boundary of West Arlinston is Garrison avenue, a macadamized street, with board walks and shade trees, while the northern, boundary is the Reisterstown pike.

The attractive features of this property are its inexpensive and easy accessibility to Baltimore by the Western Maryland railroad and the numerous beautiful drives by which it may be reached, its proverbial healthfulness, hard roads, good walks, fine views and city conveniences, combining all the essential prerequisities of a locality adapted for a suburban home. It has also stores, churches of several denominations, excellent schools and good social advantages. The new railroad station lately completed by the Western Maryland railroad is one of the finest on the line, built of cut stone and is of an artistic design. Post, telegraph and express offices may be found in the station building, and it is proposed at an early date to begin the erection of water and cas works to supply WEST ARLINGTON and the adjacent neighborhood, while other improvements are contemplated that will greatly add to the value of lots in his new suburb. Streets are being opened rapidly and shout 500 shade trees have been planted.

Mr. W. O. Beckenbaugh of Baltimore, Md., the greatest auctioneer in this country (who in connection with the undersigned made the great Buchanan sale in Virginia last itali, over $700,000 worth of lots soid in one day), will offer these lots.

For further particulars inquire of the undersigned, where free tickets can be had. A special train will be provided for guests, due notice of which will be published later.

WASHING

The undersigned beg to announce that they have bought the interest of the late Frances M. Joyce and will continue the business under the same name and style, having assumed the liabilities of the old firm.

Carter, retired, died in this city today. He carter, reures, entered the naval service as a midshipman in 1840 from Tennessee, became a commodore in 1878 and retired with that rank in 1881. Subsequently, in 1882, by special act of Congress he was promoted to the rank of admiral on the retired list. His record of service was peculiar in that during the late war, because of his familiarity with the Tennessee country, he was detailed from the navy to the army, and as a result of good service became a brigadier general.

An Important Decision by the United Supreme Court.

A rather important question was recently decided by the Supreme Court which involved the legality of the issue of labels by the patent office. The court held that the clause of the Constitution under which Congress is authorized to legislate for the protection of authors and inventors has reference only to an and inventors has reference only to an and inventors has reference only to authors and inventors has reference only to authors.

An examination will be held at the rooms of the civil service commission in this city commencing on June 16, 1891, at 9 a.m., to fill a vacancy in the position of architectural draughteman at $1,800 per annum in the office of the quartermaster general. Applicants must be able to design and construct buildings in all their details, must be able to estimate their cost and must possess a thorough knowledge of building material and modern appliances. Blanks for applications will be furnished by the commission. Applications must be completed before the day of the examination. It may be possible to arrange to examine applicants in some of the larger cities outside of Washington.

CIVIL SERVICE IN THE NAVY. Report of the Examining Board for the New York Navy Yard. The board of naval officers designated by Secretary Tracy to conduct the first "civi service" examination in the navy yards having in charge the reforms to be instituted at the New York yard, was at the Navy Department and submitted its report to the Secretary. This board consists of Capt. F. M. Bunce, president; Chief Engineer David Smith, Commander Chas. O'Neil, Commander F. E. Chadwick and Naval Constructor F. F. Bowles. holding the positions. A QUALIFICATION AS TO THE TEST. "The board also desires to record the fact that while it has, in its judgment, specified the candidates 'best qualified' for the positions, it is of the opinion that the men named for master shipwright, master joiner, master shipfitter (outside work), master boilermaker and master sparmaker do not reach that standard of excellence which it is desirable or which the best interests of the government demand. This unsatisfactory state of affairs may be largely due to the want of a more general knowledge on the part of the public as to the requirements of the positions or to the inade-quate rate of pay for some of the more import-ant."

THE REPORT APPROVED. The action of the department in the matter is that it adopts the report of the board and will carry out its recommendations in every case. With reference to the statement made in the report that certain candidates found "best qualified" by the board do not reach that standard of excellence which is desirable, or which the best interests of the government demand, it may be said that the deernment demand, it may be said that the de-partment will take into consideration the question raised with reference to the rate of pay and also the expediency of a new examina-tion at some future date to fill these positions

The fact that the term of the Alaskan judge is lim-ited to four years and that he does not hold office for life or during good behavior, the court says, proves that it is not a court of the United States as the term is constitutionally used. The court holds that the President has complete power over territorial officers. Judg-ment is therefore given in favor of the United

President, Secretary Foster and Secretary Tracy, in the course of which Capt. Shepard, chief of the revenue marine division, and Mr. Tingle, chief of the special agents, were called upon to supply certain necessary information in regard to the seal fisheries. The question was subsequently considered at the regular cabinet meeting.

No Holiday for the Clerks.—The death of Judge Taft will not bring the customary holiday to the clerks of the War Department and the Department of Justice, over which he formerly presided, as Attorney General Miller and Secretary Proctor, after consultation, have decided that it is a useless custom to close departments on the occasion of the funeral of cabinet officers long since retired from public life. Accordingly they think that there is no time like the present to inaugurate what they consider to be a needed reform.

Striking Stage Drivers in Paris Resort to Violence.

Five Hundred Thousand Acres to

Be Sold by the Government.

Paris, May 26 .- The strike of stage drivers throughout Paris, which was begun yesterday, continues today and is causing great excitement in this city. Enormous crowds of people, the majority of whom are in warm sympathy with the strikers, surround the depots of the omnibus company. During the night and this morning the company's depot and offices were guarded by strong forces of police and detachments of troops. There was no serious disturbance last night, but rioting was renewed and to the control of the con The report states: "The applicants for all positions numbered ninety-three, and fifty-nine persons appeared for examination. Each candidate appeared personally before the board and was subjected to an oral examination; his testimonials and certificates were read in his presence and he was required to make written which the stages were to start. No sooner which the stages were to start. No sooner were the stages well out of the depots than they were greeted with volley upon volley of stones, which were accompanied with a perfect storm of hooting and jeering.

THE POLICE DISREGARDED. Though the stages were escorted by police men, the strikers watched their opportunity and, at a signal agreed upon, charged furiously and, at a signal agreed upon, charged furiously upon the stages, swept away the police lines, dragged the "blacklegs' drivers from their boxes, pounded them vigorously, cut the traces of the horses and, in several cases, overturned and seriously damaged the stages themselves. The police did their best to protect the company's employes and property, but their efforts were nearly useless in face of the overwhelmingly powerful rushes of the mob. At one time it was thought the troops would be called upon ito take action, but the authorities, in view of the popular sentiment of resentment which was aroused by the slaughter of the men by soldiers at Fourmies on May day, are not expected to order the troops to fire upon the people unless absolutely compelled to do so.

SYMPATHY WITH THE STRIKERS.

SYMPATHY WITH THE STRIKERS. Popular sympathy, as already stated, is undoubtedly with the strikers, and, in one case, this was illustrated in a manner somewhat dis-gusting to the "blacklegs." Two stages were stopped by the strikers at a certain point and the horses were, as usual, unharnessed and led away amid the jeers of the crowd who witnessed the onslaught of the strikers. When the "black-leg" drivers and conductors were pulled from the stope the problems. the stages the inhabitants of the neighboring houses, male and female, nearly smothered the "blacklegs" with showers of dirty water, filth and refuse. Squads of police attempted, by repeated charges upon strikers and their supporters, to protect the stages issuing from the depot on the Boulevard Bourdon, but the crowds responded by attacking and overpowering the police. The strikers then pulled the "blacklegs" from the stages, severely maltreated them and compelled the stages to return into the depot. The police, later on, were reinforced and made many arrests among the strikers who had been prominent in the rioting.

The extent to which the strikers enjoy the sympathy of the Parisian public may be judged from the fact that many of the newspapers of this city have opened subscriptions
